Webinar: ERP Trends in 2016 for a Brave New World

Wednesday, 2 March 2016 - 11.00am AEST

SCLAA Members : Complimentary    Non-Members : $25.00

If you have gone through the blood, sweat and tears and now have an ERP system in place, you may be wondering what next? How does my business reap the benefit of the integrated efficient system? Are you ahead of the curve, or getting left behind?

Or maybe you are contemplating an ERP system and want to make sure it will support your business in today's rapidly changing world.

Changing customer demands for eCommerce is a major cause of supply chain stress as businesses attempt to cater for omni-channel demands. Meanwhile, with the speed of technology the Internet of Things is shaping the future for wearable tech and robotics.

International Business Systems UK presenter, Jackie Ross will take you on an ERP trends journey, looking at the past, present and future, while discussing the challenges, impact and benefits they can bring to your business now and into the future.

Jackie Ross

International Business Systems' Jackie Ross is no new-comer to ERP. First introduced to ERP systems in the form of BPCS Version 1 in 1987 and she has been working with business systems ever since predominantly with mid range to large distribution and manufacturing businesses.

Jackie has a very deep understanding of the challenges of these types of business. Currently based in her native UK, Jackie has worked in various different areas of the world including 15 years in the Asia Pacific area based in Melbourne.

International Business Systems is a global leading provider of distribution management software for Pharmaceutical, Food & Beverage, Automotive, 3PL, Publishing and Wholesale Distribution industries.
