Don't miss out on this fascinating presentation and case study by Mobility Specialist, Matrix42. Places are limited so book early.

In today's Logistics environment most of us expect instant access to accurate data, systems and information from anywhere, from any device and at any time. In fact each of us will typically work with 3 or more devices every day expecting to move easily from one device to another. Think for a moment how many of us regularly switch between laptop, tablet and smart phone It's normal everyday practice - - right? Not quite.

Our friends from Matrix42 will outline some of the factors that need to be considered for the user to move effortlessly between different devices without having to think about it. They are experts in managing such environments and they'll show us how it's done and then back up their claims with some interesting case studies. And just to wrap up they will paint a picture on current mobility trends and what experiences we can look forward to in the near future.

This is definitely something you can't afford to miss but if that doesn't whet your appetite then I'm also led to believe they might sponsor the bar and some nibbles on the night.

Book early – Bring your IT Manager – Enjoy a fascinating presentation.
